

The Ultimate Transmission Protection!

For the cleanest transmission fluid filtration, look to the EP NTZ TransProtector. Our inline magnetic micro filter removes a high percentage of the particles of 15 microns and larger – at a clean up speed that is more effective and faster than competitors.

The key to TransProtector's cleanliness is its radially wound depth-type filter element – superior to pleated paper in fluid cleaning and in holding those particles.

You get a transmission that performs to the top of its capability, and transmission components and fluid that last longer. It's the ultimate protection for your transmission!
